mPay Gateway's Rapid Growth Results in Updated Website and New Location

mPay Gateway's New Image Reflects Company's Overwhelming Market Success

Minneapolis, MN, May 28, 2009 -- mPay Gateway, a Minneapolis, MN company, and the leader in patient payments, announces the launch of its updated website and the relocation of its headquarters to larger facilities. Both the new website and relocation reflect mPay Gateway's rapid growth and success advancing patient payment processes.

"In the past 60 days, we have tripled the number of health care providers we have under contract," says Brian K. Beutner, CEO of mPay Gateway. "We determined the time was right to update our website to provide a highly functional and user-friendly means to address the increased interest in our innovative approach to patient payments."

Enhancements to the mPay Gateway site include:

- Separate pages targeted to physicians, practices, patients and partners that answer the question, "Why mPay Gateway?"
- A quick "How It Works" flash graphic showing the simple three-step process that is delivering dollars to mPay Gateway customers.
- Registration for a free, one-hour information webinar to learn more about mPay Gateway and the value of its offerings for prospective clients. Webinars will be offered daily on Tuesdays beginning June 9th.
- An FAQ section that is rich in resources to learn more about current patient payment trends in health care.

Beutner also notes the company's growth has created the need to hire additional staff and move to a larger facility. "mPay Gateway's rapid growth is fueled by our success at simplifying the patient payment experience and helping practices improve collections," says Beutner. "Our clients are reporting 50% declines in patient receivables and 50% increases in patient collections within weeks of using our services. We have seen a dramatic increase in demand for our products and services as customers tell others about the success of their mPay Gateway implementations."

Health care providers using mPay Gateway's innovative software are able to move their patient payment process to the point of service when care is delivered. Not only does this improve collections, it also eliminates the need to send confusing statements weeks after a patient visit. Patient satisfaction rises because administrative hassles are reduced. The result is a classic win-win scenario, with patients more focused on their health and with physicians benefitting from lower patient receivables and better patient collections. The process change is simple because the mPay Gateway software works with health care providers' existing practice management systems.
